

Proctorio Supports Online Education Across the Globe with Sponsorship and Panel Discussion at eLearning Africa

The world's most advanced automated proctor expands into the African educational market at eLearning Africa 2017 in Mauritius.

Proctorio, a fully automated online invigilating solution, announced today its sponsorship of eLearning Africa 2017. Meeting the networking needs of the pan-African eLearning and distance education sector, the annual eLearning Africa conference is the key networking venue for practitioners and professionals from Africa and all over the world.

Proctorio's sponsorship of eLearning Africa 2017 marks its entrance into the continent's education marketplace. Thousands of distance learners have already utilized Proctorio's automated technology on the African continent, demonstrating Proctorio's ability to verify student identities, secure exam content, and protect academic integrity around the globe.

Co-founder and CEO of Proctorio, Mike Olsen, will be presenting "Digital Connections in Africa and Beyond", where he will discuss increasing eLearning opportunities through mobile and broadband technologies. Olsen explained, "Mobile phone technology can enhance and improve access to education, particularly in rural areas. Proctorio is working to leverage this technology in order to fulfill our mission to increase the quality and availability of education in service of a more equitable world."

About the eLearning Africa: eLearning Africa is the largest gathering of eLearning and ICT supported education and training professionals in Africa, enabling participants to develop multinational and cross-industry contact and partnerships, as well as to enhance their knowledge, expertise and abilities.

About Proctorio: Proctorio is a fully automated, remote proctoring service that provides a scalable, cost-effective solution to validating student identities and activity during online exams.
